Thousands fail of this because they have seglected to look after their health in a womanly way. The health of a woman's babies is dependent upon her own health during the period of prospective maternity. The prospective mother cannot be too particular about her physical condition. It makes these organs strong, healthy, vigorous, virile and elastic. It makes the prospective mother strong and cheerful. It robs maternity of its perils. It insures a baby constitutionally strong. It is the invention of an eminent and skillful specialist, who has had thirty years' training in this particular branch, during which time he and his staff of physicians have prescribed for many thousands of women. A Woman at the Head of Northwest-

Mergier, one of the foremost of the women physicians and surgeoms of the country, has just been made dean of the Northwestern University Woman's Medical school, Chicago Mrs. Mergler is the first woman to hold that high position at Northwestern. She succeeds Dr. I. N. Danforth, who has been given the honorary title of dean emeritus in recognition of his long and eminent services to the school. Dr.

tion. She believes that in some branches of medical study the best results are not obtained in a coeducational school, and so it is better to have separate echools for men and women. In the faculty, however, she would have the ablest instructors, whichever their sex. Under the direction of the new dean the course will be changed from two semesters, from October to June, to four semesters of three months each. The new arrangement will be put in operation in July, and each student will be required to attend three semesters of each year. The summer semester is instituted especially to give clinical work to students from smaller cities and vacation laboratory work to teachers. The attendance hereafter will be restricted to 100, who will be chosen from the candidates making the best showing in the competitive examinations. Mergler is now professor of gynecology at Northwestern and at the postgraduate school and is attending surgeon at DIQUIO the Woman's hospital. She received her medical education in the institution of which she is now dean, being gradu-ated in 1879. The following year she took postgraduate work at the University of Zurich. On her return she was appointed a lecturer in the Woman's Medical college. In 1882 she was on the attending staff of the Cook County hospital. For 12 years she has been a member of the attending staff of the Woman's hospital and was on the staff of the Wesley hospital from 1886 to 1896. From 1895 to 1897 she was head physician and surgeon at Mary Thompson hospital.

One Bouchet, who compiled a history of Acquitaine, describes a remarkable planoferte built for Louis XI by the Abbe de Baigne. The king one day hearing a drove of hogs tuning up preparatory to a general rush for and promiscuous scramble at the slop pail, laughingly ordered the priest to contrive means by which these seemingly dis-cordant sounds might produce harmony.

A Remarkable Piano.

Tradition does not affirm that the reverend gentleman scratched his head thereat, but owing to the prevalence of the tensure it "is safe to assert that he did not. Notwithstanding which, how, ever, he managed to nicely grade the drove, from the thin treble of the shote to the bassoon great of the tunked boar and, having arranged them in stalls under a pavilion, announced to his astonished majesty, who had not thought of the matter since, that the piano was in tune The king, incredulous, attended, and when the abbe struck the keys there poured forth to the delight of the entire court a burst of music such as Orphous never conceived. The explanation, when the crafty prelate chose to expose his plan, was most simple. The keys being struck, a prong set in motion by the action was stuck into the pig, grazing or piercing, according to the force and temperament of the player, the resulting squeal, howl or groan producing harmony.

Paste Gems.

The pleasure of wearing sparkling stones is to a great extent the knowledge that others cannot afford to wear them. But this is a pleasure with which i have no sympathy. Jewels should simply be regarded as an ornament, irrespective of their intrinsic value. But so little is this realised by the wealthy classes that many ladies wear sham diamonds exactly similar to those that they possess, which are kept at their bankers for fear of theft. This is much like a person plastering himself over with certified bankers' checks. It is a mere advertisement to all that the person is so wealthy that he or ehe can afford to leave a vast amount of capital locked up without interest.-London Truth.

MORE POPULATION AND WEALTH.

If Neveda is good enough for a man to live and make money in, it ought to be good enough for him to invest his money in. We do not need more people to make the State prospercus, but these already here.

ought to be good enough for anybody to invest his money here, whether it was made within or without the State. She possesses developed and undeveloped resources enough to justify the investment of millions upon millions of dollars with assurance of profitable returns. Her mineral wealth is inexhaustible and her agricultural resources are greater than those of any other State in the Union, in proportion to the cost of the land. There is no valid reason why the State should not give support and profit to at least forty | for Carson. times her present population.

The last three lines of what we have quoted over our own remarks, are last evening. partly true and partly erroneous. We do need more people to make the State as prosperous as she should be, in addition to more loyalty, or, rather, enterprise, on the part of those already here. It is lack of the latter which has prevented the consummation of the former. There is no geographical or other natural cause why Nevada should not equal, if not exceed, in population and wealth, the State of Colorado to-day. The unnatural causes are the apathy and listlessness of the people "already here" and the high rate of taxation, which is mainly their own fault, in allowing unscrupulous politicians to handle the reins of our State and county governments. These unnatural causes can be removed, and the removal of the first will accomplish the abolishment of the other. Let the business men and the producers awaken from their lethargy and bestir themselves as their neighbors of other western States have

The JOURNAL and other papers of the State have pointed out the way, and a repetition of the details would be more than a thrice told tale. The JOURNAL and Gazette have endeavored to awaken the people of Reno to realization of the loss they are sustaining by failing to utalize the advantages her geography and surroundings afford, to make the town the great commercial center for a large scope of country whose trade is now tributary to places in California more remote and less accessible than our own. The local pressendeavors have as yet resulted in nothing tangible, and the seed has apparently fallen upon barron ground. But we are not discouraged and will continue our afforts with hopefullness that they will finally awaken a spirit of pride and enterprise which will accomplish the desired result. What is true of Reno is applicable to are but parts of an aggregated whole, and the local prosperity of one is an advertisement abroad of our resources which will inure to the benefit of the entire commonwealth. Do not believe that we need no more people here, for we do. All industrious men and women who become residents of Nevade, in addition to the means they bring, augment the weatth and are factors to the general prosperity of the State. Those siready here represent a neclues which, with proper effort, will attract the greater body which will, we are confident, at no distant day, increase our census total by an additional figure at the night hand of the present number.

BEET SUGAR FACTORY.

A best sugar factory is to be erected near Salinas, Santa Clara county, by Clause Spreckels, costing $2,500,000. It will be an immense plant, consuming 8,000 tons of the bests per day during the operating season. It will turn out 450 tons of sugar every 24 hours and distribute $17,000 per day for labor and beets. To supply the demand of the factory, it will take $0,000 acres of land planted to this vegetable. Think of that you people who are looking about for profitable investments in land! There are thousands upon thousands of scres in Nevada which can be had at government prices, which will Matinee Saturday Afternoon. yield larger crops and better sugar making material than the best soil in Santa Clara or in any other county in California. There are also perhaps as many more acres located and under cultivation which could be leased for land in the Golden State.

Although experiments on a small scale have proven the adaptability of both sagebrush and meadow land in Nevada for best culture, the experiments this year will be upon a large scale and under the auspices of the President of the Nevada State University, who has furnished seed for experimental crops in nearly every county in the State. There is scarcely room for doubt that the statistics in the matter of yield and quality, will be sertion.

The report coming from so responsible a source will be sure to attract the attention of central and it is the attention of capital, and it is no idle dream that in less than a decade of years, Nevada will take the lead over all other States in her output of that commercial staple. Who knows but in less than that time our present little commonwealth will be known all over the nation, as the "Sogar," ininstead of the "Sagebrush" or "Silver

THE report is without foundation that Senator J. K. Jones of Arkansas, Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, had stated that the next we need more loyalty on the part of National Convention would probably not insist upon 16 to 1 as the ratio The above has been going the rounds for silver and gold. Attractive Hands.

A man writing on "Woman's Dress" in the St. Louis Republic says: "A woman's hair and hands always com mand my attention. I do not care one jot whether the hair is dressed in the latest fashion, but I dislike very much to see untidy hair. Some girls look as if they had gathered their treases up into a bunch and stuck hairpins about indiscriminately. I do not admire the style of hairdressing which makes a woman look as if she had no forehead. The forehead is the seat of reason, and a broad one is supposed to indicate the possession of brains. No doubt, as a lady once remarked to me, brains will come out in any case, and a girl does not need to do her hair in a way to proclaim that she possesses them. Every woman ought to have white hands and nicely kept nails."

A Sensible Pad. In Holland it is still the fashion for ladies to wash the dainty china and silver after tea or breakfast in the presence of the family and guests. The same fashion has recently been revived as a fad among American ladies, and it is not only appreciated as giving an air of domesticity to the meal, but also for the practical reason that a lady's gentle handling is needed if pretty glass and china are to be preserved for any length of time. Had our grandmothers intrusted the washing of their Wordester, Chelsea and Crown Derby tea services to the care of their servants, heirlooms of beautiful old china would be rarer among us than they are now.

In Memory of the Late Hapress. A memorial chapel is being built in honor of the late Empress Elizabeth of Austria. It is to be paid for by public subscription. The site selected is as extraordinary as was the personality of the woman whose memory will be honored there, for the chapel is being erected on the Schneeberg, which is said to be always capped with snow. It is not difficult of access from Vienna, however, and is often visited by mountain climbers. It is hoped that the building will be finished by the 10th of next September, the first anniversary of the empress death, on which day the test mass will be said. traordinary as was the personality of
